Exhibit A – Workplan

The California Legislature found and declared a continuing statewide gap between mortality rates for Black infants and those for other population groups. Although statistically significant declines in infant mortality have been achieved, the rate of mortality among Black infants continues to be two to four time higher than the rates for other groups statewide. Preterm birth, the leading cause for infant death, has increased for the third straight year in California. One response to the crises is the Black Infant Health (BIH) Program, an evidenced-informed intervention program focusing on social support, stress management, and empowerment designed to reduce Black infant mortality.

To augment the current BIH services, the California Legislature appropriated new funding and directed the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) to establish the California Perinatal Equity Initiative to expand the scope of interventions. This Initiative shall foster the implementation of perinatal health interventions to fill gaps in current programming offered through the BIH Program.

During the current FY 2018/19, CDPH will award Planning Grants on a sliding funding scale for up to 13 Local County Health Departments to implement the following:
