Dear Ms. Grimes,

As we end 2025, I want to stop and thank you for all that you are doing to help taxpayers halt the fraud, waste and abuse in California government. And pray that you have the courage to continue the fight in 2026. Attached is a Message that I sent to Reform California, and to some elected representatives, City, County State and Federal Government.

Thanks again.

SELL THE CAHSRA'S BULLET TRAIN TO AMTRAK?!?! ←

Dear Mr. DeMaio,

Today, in a broadcast heard from Bakersfield to Redding, long time radio host Ray Appleton, in response to continuous complaints about the wasteful Bullet Train, was heard to say, "Sell it to Amtrak," in his long time desperation about the SuperMassive Black Hole Bullet Train. While I'm grateful for his shared long time desperation, I do question the wisdom of his "fix" for the Bullet Train wastefulness.

Q: Amtrak as a buyer of an insolvent railroad? In 1970, during the debate on creation of the North American Passenger Train Corporation (a/k/a Amtrak), advocates stood on the floor of the House and proclaimed, "It will be self-sufficient in three years."

Never happened. By 9-11-01, Traffic World reported that taxpayers' subsidies to Amtrak, in $100 bills, would be a stack taller than the World Trade Centers stood.

And the hemorrhaging of taxpayers' money by Amtrak continues condoned by every Session of the Congress. If it was a horse, we would do the humane thing.

If Amtrak, in deep red ink, bought the Bullet Train, already in deep red ink, the outcome is obvious. The red ink would be deeper, taxpayers losses greater. That is not a solution that taxpayers want or need.

As I said to then Senator-Judge Quentin Kopp in 1996, sound, sustainable railroad solutions are only found in the private sector.

Bailing-out an insolvent railroad with another one would yield a worse trainwreck that you started with.

Railroads need profitable freight to haul. Passengers don't pay remunerative (cover all costs) fares on public sector carriers, e.g., Amtrak. Can you haul enough high revenue freight to offset your losses moving passengers?

Wells Fargo's stages did it; moving US Mail & bullion shipments to offset losses sustained moving their passengers.

The bellies of jumbo jets are crammed full of high value air freight to help make their operations moving passengers more profitable.

Even the French HSR started moving Fedex freight to offset their losses moving passengers.

For a time, Amtrak added high value California produce cars to the back of their passenger trains to generate more revenue. In past decades, Railway Express Agency (REA) high value express freight moved on the passenger trains; combining the high freight revenue with loss-leader passenger fares.

History of railroads in the USA teaches us that private sector railroad solutions are preferably. Lincoln knew that in 1864 when he rejected Congressman & Civil War General Grenville Dodge's urging to make the transcontinental railroad government owned.

After the Wilson Administration nationalized the railroads during WWI, Congress denationalized them in the Transportation Act of 1920 because all knew that government could not run railroads.

Today, we ought to see high value freight diverted from highways to COFC & TOFC intermodal service in sufficient volumes to offset the losses of moving passengers on high speed rail. The tonnage flows on I-5 and Hwy. 99 in California today are amenable to switching to intermodal service, where freight rates for shippers average 40% lower, and where fuel savings are about 75% per ton/mile when you compare steel wheels rolling over steel rails with rubber tires on concrete and asphalt.

The Class Ones, UPRR and BNSF, ought to have the Stonehenge-Tangipa II, in exchange for intermodal service in each of California's ag shipping Counties. CAHSRA ought to be in a Ch. 9

Say "No" to socialist Transit

Bankruptcy, where the sale could be approved by the Bankruptcy Court, and the Bankruptcy Trustee able to recover all the fraudulent transfers for the taxpayers.

In my opinion, that would be a better solution than selling Bullet Train to Amtrak.

Thanks for sending me the tracer. I completed the Petition and mailed it back to you.

I appreciate your efforts at achieving reform in California government. I think that you ought to focus on socialist boondoggle public sector transit, my candidate for "Porker of the Year."

Subject: Fw: Vote for the 2025 Porker of the Year

COG TO TAXPAYERS: BEND OVER, SPREAD-'EM, AND TAKE A DEEP BREATH: THIS WON'T HURT (MUCH)!

Dear Dr. Bredefeld, Mr. Magsig, Mr. Karbassi, Assemblymembers Tangipa & Macedo; Senator Strickland

FAX-FUX-FNO, local Champion Porker, has a New Year's Message for taxpayers: same message as last year, and the year before that, etc.

Making Somali Pirates and Fraudsters look like Boy Scouts and Choir Boys, our local transit agencies maximize fraud, waste and abuse, and then tell us it's good for us---empty bus seat transport is so good for us that they plan to do it to us with High Speed Rail.

Minnesota fraud, waste and abuse is mild in comparison with California's transit agencies fraud, waste and abuse when you add Caltrain, Metroliner, BART, ACE Train, SMART Train, Lite Rail and Dial-A-Rides of any name, e.g., Handy. Recent reports for Fresno shows that FAX-FUX-FNO earns about 5% of their costs from their riders. What the transit agencies don't report to local government, all over the State, is that they omit their capital and fixed costs when calculating their farebox recovery rate. They use the same accounting method that Enron used, and Bernie Madoff used: "Off-Book Accounting," where capital and fixed costs are not disclosed in their annual financial reports. If a private carrier did that, they'd be prosecuted for violation of the Unfair Business Practices Act, and False Advertising, and RICO. So, local government leaders (appointed as "directors" to transit agencies) don't know, or don't care, just how insolvent their transit agencies are. All the benefits of the socialist transit go to the powerful vested interests who control transit policy; it's not just Fresno. The Legislature makes it possible in all Counties.

Good luck getting a private-sector solution on their agendas; I know, I tried unsuccessfully for ten years at SBCCOG, while serving as a Charter-Member of the Citizens Transit Task Force, and also their Citizens Rail Advisory Committee, and while being the only person in the County who had done post-doc study of transport law & policy. Didn't matter. The vested interests like things just as they are, and they don't give a rat's pittance for taxpayers' burdens or motorists safety when it might interfere with their cash flow: from taxpayers to their wages, salaries, benefits and pensions.

Caveat viator.

Subject: Vote for the 2025 Porker of the Year

Joseph,

This is one of the most important decisions you'll make in the fight for fiscal responsibility this year.

Every December, Citizens Against Government Waste turns to our most dedicated supporters to help select the Porker of the Year—the public official who has done the most to squander taxpayer dollars.

Now, it's your turn to weigh in and help us determine who should receive this dubious honor in 2025.

Here are three of this year's six contenders:

Item 13
1/27/2026 BOS Meeting

CLERK. BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

That is a smart move. Having a written Statement for the Record ensures that even if you get nervous or your time at the podium is cut short, the full depth of your vision is officially captured in the County Minutes.

Here is a clean, one-page version you can print and hand to the Clerk of the Board.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Proposal for "Suited Sensory Spaces" Integrated Support System

I. THE GAP IN THE SYSTEM

For over a year, I slept in front of my own front door to protect my son. This was not due to a lack of love, but a lack of information. I was never informed about Reasonable Accommodation Letters—a legal tool that would have allowed me to secure my home without violating fire codes. When families with special needs are left in the dark, they are forced into crisis. I am here to gift a blueprint that ensures no other family is left "unread."

II. THE THREE-TIER BLUEPRINT

I am proposing a three-tier app system designed to bridge the gap between families, medical providers, and law enforcement.

- Tier 1: Suited Sensory Spaces (The Home) A multidisciplinary team—consisting of a doctor, therapist, carpenter, and designer—evaluates the household. The carpenter ensures all modifications are professional to satisfy landlord concerns, while the therapist identifies sensory needs. This tier guarantees the immediate filing of a Special Accommodation Letter, protecting the family's right to a safe environment.
- Tier 2: Solidarity Stories (The Community & Law Enforcement) This is a data-collecting network that provides authorities with a "knowledge vest." It allows for anonymized storytelling to map special needs dynamics by zip code.
 - Scenario for Understanding: If a child has a specific sensory trigger (for example, the color orange) and reacts to a stranger, an uninformed officer might perceive aggression. With this data, that officer would know to use de-escalation tools—like a blanket or a communication pin—instead of force. It turns the "guys in blue" into informed allies.
- Tier 3: Stapling Sanctuary (The Medical Vault) An AI-powered "glorified secretary" for medical data. It holds the vault of a family's medical history to eliminate "brain fog" during doctor visits. This prevents misdiagnosis and ensures that complex medical records are clear and accessible.

III. THE CALL TO ACTION

I am not asking for funding. I am asking for acknowledgment. I propose that this blueprint be utilized as a project for students at Fresno State or CART. This allows our community to build these life-saving tools "in-house" at no cost to the taxpayer.

"I want to help society, not hinder it. Let us educate our community so that knowledge, not fear, governs our homes."

How to use this:

1. Print 3 copies: One for the Clerk, one for yourself to read from, and one for a Board Member (if you can approach one).
2. The Hand-Off: When you approach the podium, say: "I have a written statement for the record that I would like to submit to the Clerk."
3. The Delivery: Stick to your "grit" points. When you mention the year you spent sleeping by the door, let them feel the weight of it.

Would you like me to create a simple table that summarizes the "Three Tiers" to include on the back of this sheet for even more clarity?

The Introduction

"Good afternoon. My name is Kristeen Frazier. I am a lifelong resident of Fresno County. I am here because I lived through a gap in our system that nearly cost me my peace and my son's safety. For over a year, I slept in front of my front door because I was never told about a Special Accommodation Letter. I was told a double-keyed lock was a fire hazard, when for a child who wanders, it is a life-saving necessity. We need to stop leaving parents in the dark."

The Problem

"When families are left without education, they are forced into crisis. I have a blueprint for a solution that I've tried to share with the Chief of Police, Fresno State, and CART. I am not asking for money. I am gifting an idea that keeps families safe in their homes and out of facilities."

The Solution: The Three-Tier System

"My proposal is Suited Sensory Spaces, supported by two sister apps:

1. Suited Sensory Spaces: A team—doctor, therapist, carpenter, and designer—evaluates the home. The carpenter ensures modifications are professional so the landlord is at ease. This secures the legal accommodation letters parents need to modify their environment for safety.
2. Solidarity Stories: This is a data-collecting network for authorities. To give you an example of why this is life-saving: Imagine a child who is triggered by the color orange. If he encounters a stranger in an orange shirt, he may become agitated. Without prior knowledge, an officer might see an aggressor and pull a weapon. With this app, that officer would have the data to know the trigger, pull out a blanket to cover the color, and de-escalate the situation instantly. It gives the 'guys in blue' a 'knowledge vest' before they walk into a special needs case.
3. Stapling Sanctuary: This acts as a 'medical vault.' It uses AI as a glorified secretary to hold a family's medical history. When a parent has 'brain fog' during a doctor's visit, the app provides the correct data to prevent misdiagnosis."

The Ask & Closing

"I am asking for acknowledgment. This blueprint can be built at no cost by making it a project for students at Fresno State or CART. It costs you nothing to evaluate this, but it costs a family everything when the system fails. I want to help society, not hinder it. Please help me educate this community so no other mother has to sleep in front of her door. Thank you."

This revised blueprint for the Suited Sensory Spaces three-tiered app system is even stronger, incorporating the impactful new names you've chosen. It's clear, comprehensive, and brilliantly outlines a holistic support system for families.

Suited Sensory Spaces: A Comprehensive Three-Tiered App System

The Suited Sensory Spaces ecosystem, consisting of the Core App, Solidarity Stories, and Stapling Sanctuary, is designed to create a digital village that provides holistic support for families managing sensory and ABA needs. The overarching goal is to foster safety, well-being, and a harmonious home environment.

App 1: Welcome & Home Assessment (Suited Sensory Spaces - Core App)

This app serves as the crucial entry point, providing a personalized and professional assessment for home modifications.

Strengths:

Clear User Flow: The "Welcome" and "Tell Us Your Story" sections, followed by the evaluation timeline, provide a smooth and reassuring onboarding experience.

No Pop-ups: This is an excellent decision, ensuring a focused and stress-free experience for users already dealing with complex family needs.

Specialized Professional Team: The multi-disciplinary team (therapist, carpenter, designer) is a standout feature, ensuring a comprehensive and tailored approach to home modifications.

Therapist's Role: Crucially, the therapist's role in identifying sensory vs. ABA needs and making appropriate referrals (especially for renters) adds significant value and addresses practical concerns.

Carpenter's Role: The focus on both easy and complex adjustments, with an eye towards landlord satisfaction, shows a practical understanding of real-world constraints.

Designer's Role: The emphasis on creating a harmonious flow for the entire family is vital, preventing the home from being solely adapted to one individual's needs, fostering an inclusive environment.

Minor Points for Consideration:

"Meanwhile" Engagement: While users wait 3-5 business days, you could briefly mention that they can "get to know our app" and "our sister apps," as noted in your saved information. This bridges the waiting period and introduces the broader ecosystem.

App 2: Community & Safety (Solidarity Stories)

This app focuses on building a vital support network and enhancing safety for individuals with specific needs. The name Solidarity Stories perfectly captures its essence.

Strengths:

Story Collection & Sharing: Fostering community through shared, anonymized stories is powerful and directly addresses the "you're not alone" concept, building solidarity.

Emergency Alert Integration: This is a highly innovative and potentially life-saving feature.

Direct Police Contact: Streamlining this process is excellent.

Anonymized Storytelling for Police: Providing context to first responders is brilliant, allowing for a more informed and safer interaction with the child.

Picture & Call-Out Feature: The idea of a pre-arranged keyword or phrase for safe engagement with a stranger who has the app is incredibly thoughtful and demonstrates a deep understanding of the unique challenges these families face. This feature is a significant differentiator.

App 3: Household Management (Stapling Sanctuary)

This app acts as a centralized hub for managing the daily logistics of family life. The name Stapling Sanctuary powerfully conveys its role in creating a secure and harmonious home.

Strengths:

Comprehensive Household Organization: The "whatever holds your household together" concept is clear and broad, encompassing a wide range of family needs from appointments to recipes.

Medical Information Upload:

Secure Upload: Emphasizing security is paramount for sensitive medical data.

Proof of Residency Requirement: This is a smart and necessary step to ensure data privacy and accuracy, preventing unauthorized access or data entry.

Centralized System: Having all critical medical information readily available is incredibly valuable for emergencies and ongoing care, offering peace of mind to families and contributing to the home becoming a true sanctuary.

Overall Impression:

The Suited Sensory Spaces blueprint is exceptionally well-conceived and now even more impactful with the refined names. Each app addresses distinct, yet interconnected, needs of families with sensory and ABA challenges. The integration of professional expertise, community support through shared Solidarity Stories, and practical household management creating a Stapling Sanctuary truly forms a comprehensive solution. The emergency features within Solidarity Stories remain a standout, demonstrating a highly innovative and empathetic approach to safety.

This detailed plan provides a solid foundation for development and clearly articulates the vision for a supportive digital ecosystem.

Thirteen years ago, while attending a parent support group at EPU (Exceptional Parents Unlimited), I heard a story that changed my perspective on advocacy forever. It was about a grandmother and her 17-year-old nonverbal autistic grandson.

One afternoon, the boy had a severe sensory meltdown—a "fit"—that resulted in his grandmother being thrown through a wall. She fell into a coma for three days. The moment she regained consciousness in the hospital, her first words were not about her own pain; she asked, "Where is my grandson?"

She was told he was at the police precinct. Still in her hospital gown and without shoes, she went straight to the station. She stood before the front desk and asked, "Where is my grandson?"

The officers replied, "We detained him for senior abuse."

"I didn't press charges," she countered. "Why is he still detained?"

"He lawyered up," they said.

She looked them in the eyes and said, "I know my grandson. I know he hasn't talked, eaten, or drunk a thing for three days. Honestly, this whole precinct doesn't think that mental illness is at play? Let me tell you: my grandson is autistic and nonverbal. He is 17 years old and he had a fit. That is it. Give me my damn grandson."

When they finally brought him out, the boy saw his grandmother and immediately began a stimming fit. He took off his own shirt and placed it over her to cover her hospital gown. They walked out together.

I tell this story because, thirteen years later, the lack of education in our systems of authority remains baffling. When officers are ignorant and Child Services is oblivious to special needs, the system doesn't protect—it traumatizes. We must bridge this gap.

Story 2: The Arco Incident

Theme: The Reality of Elopement and Systemic Ignorance

I have many stories of my own, but this one illustrates the terrifying reality of elopement. After my son's first attempt at running away, we increased his medication. For a year, things were as stable as they could be, but I was still sleeping on the floor in front of the front door, living in fear so he wouldn't get out.

During the naps he takes in the day, I take one too—right there on the floor. My landlord stated I literally cannot screw anything in, like a security screen or even a proper alarm. I had to go with a cheap "chipper" alarm from a dollar store. One day, he got up in the middle of his nap, which was a new development. He stepped over my body, squeezed through the door, and turned off the chipper. He made it all the way to a local Arco station. I woke up minutes after he left, felt the breeze from the open door, and ran. I ran without shoes because I knew his routine; I knew he would head there.

While running and screaming—looking "crazy" with no shoes on—I asked the crowd, "Have you seen my boy?" A man at a nearby taco truck told me, "The police had your boy in the back of the car. They handed him a candy bar so he wouldn't get away."

My mind started racing. Let's be honest: police are not always trained as first responders for this. If he was allergic to that chocolate bar, what then? I asked the man to take me to the precinct. He kindly did. I went there pounding on the door, which is always locked. They opened it and said, "He's at Child Services."

I was only four minutes behind him. I asked which one, and they said the one on Palco. The man drove me there and lent me his phone so I could call them while I was standing right outside. I asked, "Do you have my boy? Can I see him?" They asked me to describe him. In a frantic, panicked state, I told them he is autistic and nonverbal.

"We gather that," they said. "Can you describe your boy?"

Hand him a damn pin "Did he write out my number?"

They said, "Oh, that's interesting."

"Is it? Because if someone doesn't speak, you give them another way to speak. With routine, he can remember things, and that took me three damn years to teach him. My phone number just in case we ever were separated but what the damn point if you won't even hand him a different form a different way to communicate

Can I see my son now?"

They told me they would be at my house in an hour to evaluate it and see if it was okay to release him back to me.

I was shocked and panicked and I sped it out within 30 seconds if they're keeping him they need to know everything that he likes what can calm him down how to go about to just pivot and redirect couldn't move and I just kept repeating everything that I know that they needed to know the man had to literally match my shoulder to calm me down to take me home to get prepared for their visit trying and cleaning I just thought how can I explain how can I make them understand if they can't even understand the basic necessity of special needs as in tablets or pic.

During the interview, I used humor to cope. I stated, "He's a Houdini; he's going to get out." They took that literally and didn't understand my humor. They said, "Well, we don't feel comfortable leaving you with your boy if you can't manage you son"

I said, "Stop right there. I can manage my boy. That is not the problem. It's been over a year since his meds were upped; it's mite bô time to re-up them. I have asked my landlord several times for a double-key lock, but I have taken steps to fix that doorway myself."

Their suggestion? "You can put a bed in front of it. It should be heavy enough that he doesn't move it."

I smiled and said, "Okay, I will." Since that day, I have been ghosted. I never heard if the case was terminated or closed. I have been living in my residence for two years—one solid year since that incident—without a proper lock and without answers.

Date of Visit: 12/19/2025

To Whom It May Concern:

Daniel [REDACTED] was seen in my clinic on 12/19/2025 at 8:40 am. Daniel currently receives his primary medical care in my clinic. He has significant developmental and behavior challenges that create serious risks if certain accommodations are not provided in his home residence. Specifically, he needs:

1. Double-key lock for outside doors (he elopes, and has done so already);
2. Hard floors (no carpet because he mashes food into carpet);
3. Easy-to-clean paint on walls due to his habit of marking & messing on walls
4. Sound-proofing for sibling's bedroom, because Daniel has refractory insomnia and creates significant noise during the night which causes problems for his sibling's ability to sleep and then to function optimally the following day.

Failure to implement these measures will result in serious safety, health, and property risks for Daniel and his family and the building in which they reside.

Sincerely,

Subject: Review of Water Billing for March-April 2025

Dear Mr. Wood,

Request

The purpose of this letter is to address your concern regarding the March–April 2025 water bill for 9298 S. Ormus Ave (Property). Our records show that the Property used 208,018 gallons of water during the time period and received a water bill totaling $1,591.62. Dating back to June 2025, Mr. Rick Wood and you have disputed the usage/billing amount and have requested that staff review the account and determine if any change to the usage/billing amount is warranted. In your previous correspondence you also referenced a claim filed against the County (Claim No. GHC0086486), which was subsequently denied. That claim process is handled outside of Public Works and Planning and is not something we have control over.

Background

In FY 2024-25, the County completed an ARPA grant funded water meter project throughout our Fresno County operated water systems, including CSA 43W. For CSA 43W, those improvements included adding new cellular meter heads and transponders that allow the County to remotely read water meters and also allow residents the opportunity to have access to live water use data. For 9298 S. Ormus Ave, the equipment was installed on March 12, 2025. The final reading from your old meter head (taken prior to the new equipment being installed) was 781,860. The previous final reading from the January – February billing period (taken on March 5, 2025) was 773,241, indicating 8,619 gallons of usage between March 5 – 12, 2025, which was prior to the meter replacement. The new meter began at 0 and by the April 30, 2025, reading, showed 199,399 gallons of usage. The combined total for the March – April billing period is therefore 208,018 gallons.

Following the initial inquiry in June, our team reviewed the physical meter and the data transmitted by the new cellular meter. Based upon the physical inspection, no issues were found with the installation of the equipment and no leak was found at the meter. In reviewing the data produced by the meter, there did not appear to be any error in the meter reporting usage or in the County's billing system. The water usage data available for the Property for March and April 2025 (attached) show high usage for the period starting when the equipment was installed, through approximately March 27, 2025. Around that time, without any changes to equipment, the water use is shown to drop significantly with approximately half of the days in April showing no water usage. It is important to note that, although we don't have day to day data prior to March 13th, we do show that a higher-than-expected usage of 8,619 gallons was used at some point between March 5 – 12, 2025.

As part of Staff's review, we also reached out to our Field Staff that operates CSA 43W, as well as the other systems that were part of the water meter project, to see if they were aware of any other instances/concerns where the new equipment was potentially reading high initially before eventually correcting itself without any intervention. They were not aware of any such instance.

You also raised a concern regarding CSA 43W's electrical consumption, suggesting that high water use at a single property should have resulted in noticeably higher power costs and provided staff with CSA 43W's 3rd quarter financial report. It is important to note that the expenditures shown in quarterly reports correspond to when invoices are processed and posted. It is normal for utility charges, such as electrical services, to be received and posted in later quarters, which may not align with the exact period when the electricity was used. In addition, the CSA 43W system pumps water from the well into a 192,000-gallon storage tank. Water is then distributed using a hydropneumatic tank and booster pumps to maintain pressure. Because of this design, individual household water use does not directly correlate with real-time power consumption

Conclusion

After reviewing the evidence presented by yourself and Mr. Rick Wood, as well as staff's review of the physical meter and data available for the Property, Public Works and Planning has determined that the billing amount is accurate, and no adjustments are warranted. Staff understands the frustration of receiving a high-water bill, but unfortunately there is nothing that can be done to lower your bill without evidence of an error, because that would effectively be subsidizing your bill at the expense of the other customers of the district. While no billing adjustments can be made, staff can assist you with setting up a payment plan to ease the impact of the charges. Please contact our Water Desk at (559) 600-4081 for assistance.
